FOREWORD

The thoughts of people tend to turn backwards, their minds reflecting on past experiences. This reflecting on the past is one of our most valued assets — our memory.

In our reminiscing, we come upon our college days, indeed some of the most pleasant days of our lives. The joy found in recalling some event — enrollment, freshman initiation, an athletic contest, commencement, a banquet, a date, yes, even a class lecture — is immeasurable. However, some of these fond memories will not be retained throughout the course of an eventful life. They will sink into oblivion unless some outside force is introduced.

It is, therefore, the earnest desire of the GRAYMAROON staff that this pictorial review of the school year 1948-49 will be a stimulus to your memory so that many cherished experiences will not be forgotten.

DEDICATION

DEAN PETER S. GOERTZ
1886-1948
Dean of Bethel College 1930-1948

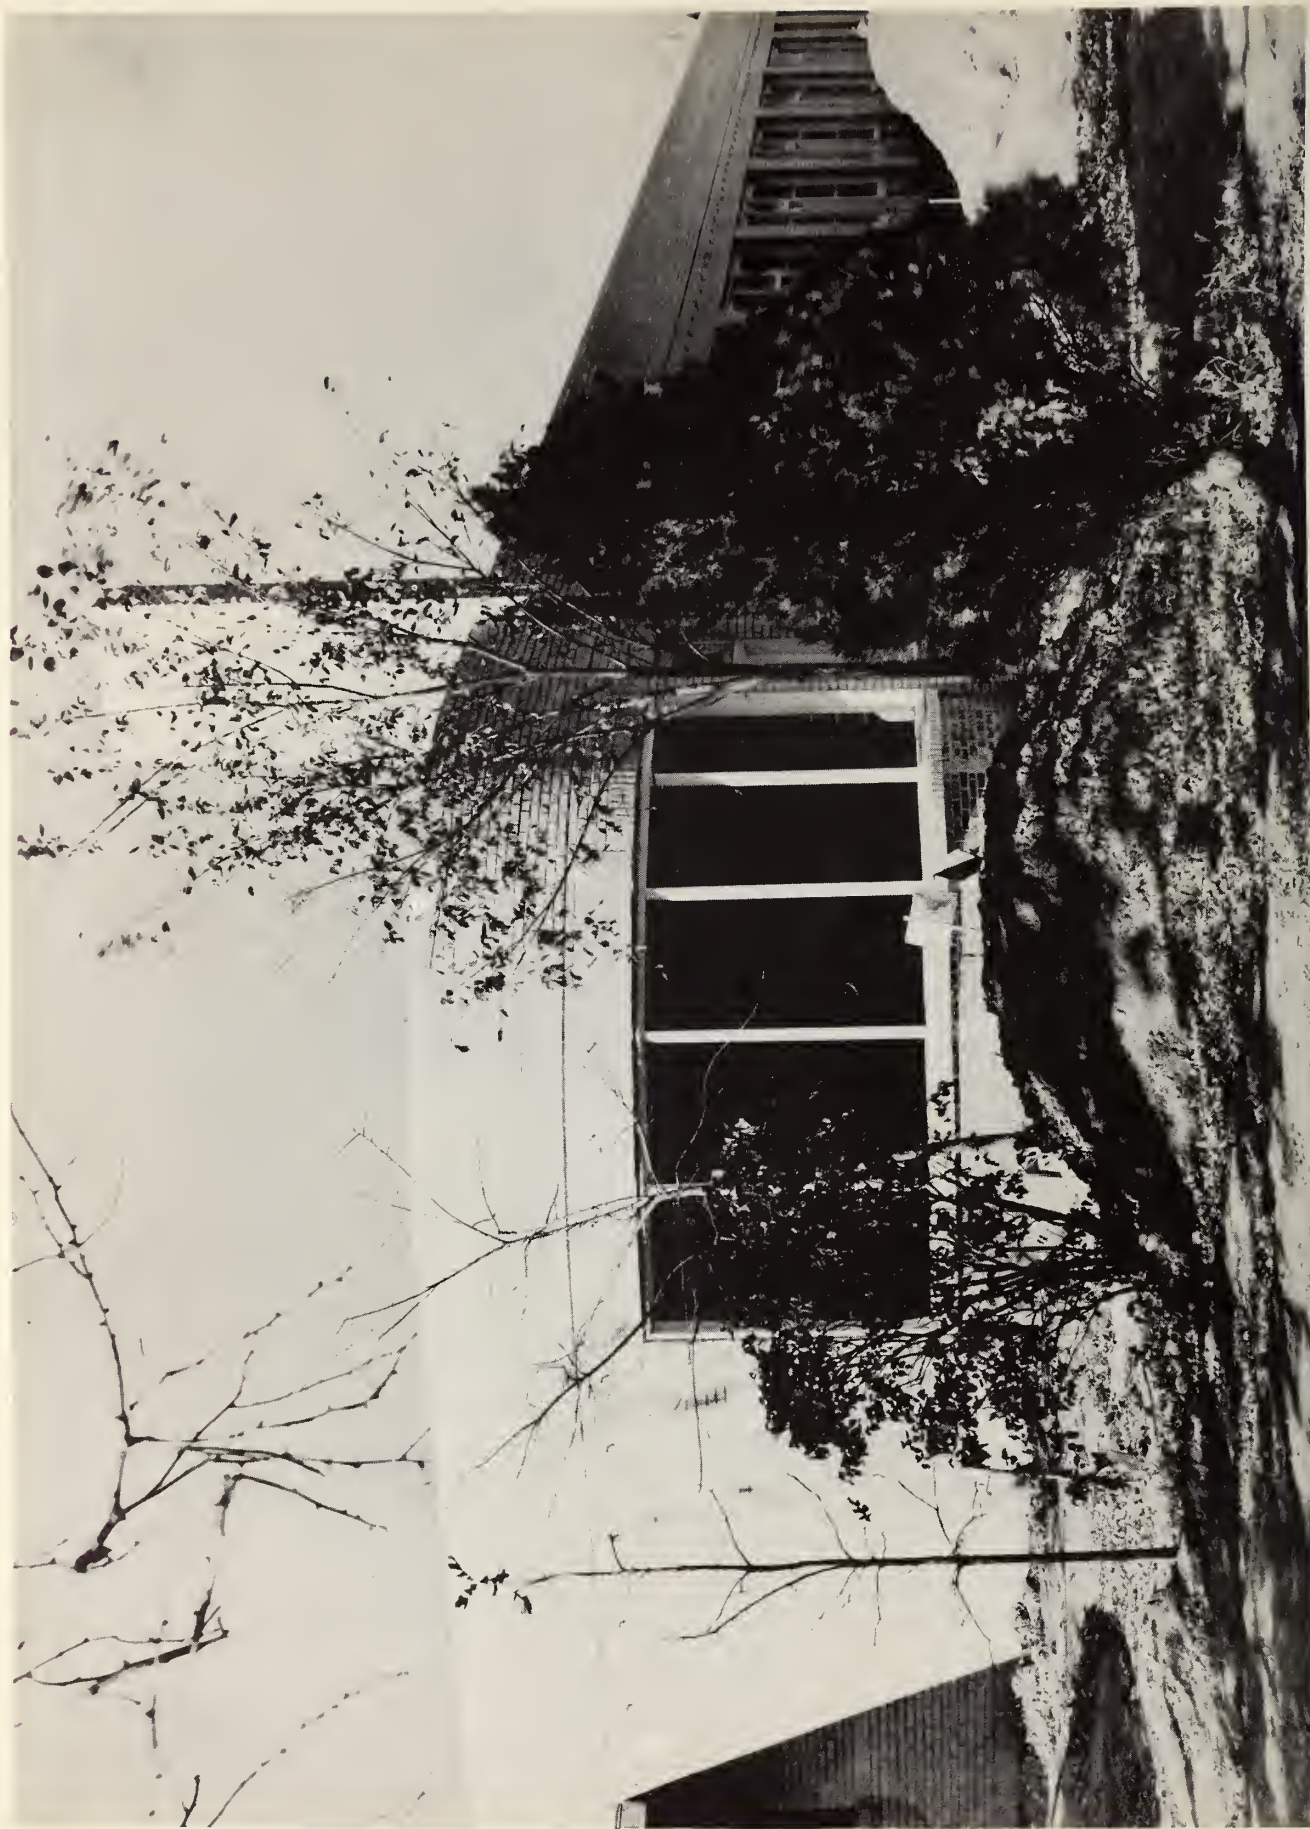

— The good that men do lives after them —

In the minds of many hundreds, perhaps thousands, of students and alumni, Dean Goertz is a significant part of Bethel College which is as it should be. "His unshakable belief in the good in every one of us" is the key to a clear appreciation of his personality. As friend or teacher and as dean he seemed always to elicit and guide, never to dictate, thus helping us to believe in ourselves as well as in him and all that he represents: his philosophy, his religion, his mode of life. Hopeful, helpful, understanding, patient, inspiring — these were his qualities as mentioned most frequently in the many intimate letters of sympathy to Mrs. Goertz after the Dean's unexpected death in August of 1948.

His many acquaintances at home and abroad have found their own lives enriched in knowing him.

COLLEGIAN

The BETHEL COLLEGIAN, a weekly student paper, is used to express the students' views and to bring before the student body campus events. Each year it is customary for the Student Council to appoint an editor and business manager, who in turn appoint their assistants for the editorial and business staffs from members of the journalism department.

Earl Loganbill and Frances Siebert were appointed editor and business manager beginning with the third quarter in 1948. At the end of the first quarter in 1948 lack of time forced Mr. Loganbill to resign his editorship, so the position was filled by Katharine Wiens with the approval of the Student Council. She completed the remainder of the term assisted by Joanne Buhler, associate editor; Harold Wedel, advertising manager; Barbara Tieszen, feature editor; John Harshbarger, sports editor; Esther Voth, music editor; Hilda Schmidt, exchange manager; Marjorie Fast, distribution; and I. G. Neufeld, faculty advisor.

GRAYMAROON

With the familiar words, "We've got a deadline to meet this week," ringing in their ears, the editor and his staff struggled courageously through the night. With such burning of midnight oil, the 1949 GRAYMAROON was somehow pieced together. The Student Council and the Junior Class again had the responsibility of preparing the yearbook. The class submitted a list of nominees from which the council selected Clarence Niles and Gilbert Goering as editor and business manager. These two then selected the rest of the GRAYMAROON staff from the student body.

Most of the photographic work was done by Hagan Studio of Newton. LaVerne Friesen and Mrs. Robert Gering also took photographs during the course of the year.
